

RUSS OLSEN

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Russ is passionate about leadership development and providing the back office support, including data analytics and business process evaluation, that helps make that happen.

Russ received his Bachelors and Masters of Accountancy degrees from Brigham Young University (BYU). While attending BYU, Russ worked as a research assistant where he studied a broad range of complex accounting topics and assisted in writing a book on International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS).

After graduating from BYU, he completed the CPA exam and worked for PricewaterhouseCoopers in the Houston, TX office working on a number of large clients including Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Calpine Corporation where he specialized in derivative accounting. Russ left PricewaterhouseCoopers to work at Calpine Corporation where he oversaw some of the accounting processes relating to commodities trading and business acquisitions. Russ left Calpine to become the Controller at The Leadership Circle and Full Circle Group, where he gained some valuable experience before being promoted to VP of Finance and Administration.

When he's not working, Russ prefers spending time with his beautiful wife, Erica, and their three beautiful daughters exploring the outdoors, going to the movies, traveling, and investing in the stock market.
