

TRACY THOMAS-ROBERTS

VICE PRESIDENT, CLIENT PARTNER

For the past 25 years, Tracy has embarked on a personal and professional journey committed to the idea of the democratization of exceptional and inclusive leadership founded upon the principles of empathy, humility, authenticity, and mutual respect.

Early in her career, Tracy worked as a Vice President for Right Management Consultants where she successfully managed global clients across the public, private and nonprofit sectors focusing on providing career consulting, outplacement, executive coaching, and assessment services anchored in leadership development initiatives focused on both individual and organization growth. This experience positioned her well for continued success at Skillsoft as a Custom e-learning Designs Solutions Architect and Consultant strategically partnering in support of public sector clients.

Tracy then parlayed that experience into leading the Government Solutions practice at the Center for Creative Leadership (CCL) for over 12 years reigniting her passion for customized leadership development programs, executive coaching, individual and organizational assessment services, and team effectiveness engagements. In her role at CCL, Tracy not only managed public sector clients from the civilian, military, and intelligence arenas but also successfully managed the leadership development initiatives of the largest defense contractors in the world, thus bringing the most innovative best practices from both the private and public sectors to her client engagements. In joining the esteemed professionals at Leadership Circle, Tracy has both realized and embraced the mission of the organization and its deep commitment to providing the tools to empower leaders to achieve their highest potential in service of inherent global unity and the upliftment of social consciousness.

Tracy is the proud mother of three wonderful children - Tatiana, 28, Trystan, 20 and TJ, 17- who are unequivocally the apples of her eye and a very adorable and precocious, 10-year-old stepdaughter, Skylar. In addition to her passion for mentoring young girls, Tracy is a fitness instructor, die-hard sports fan, and an avid reader. In her free time, you can find Tracy ruck marching with her husband on hiking trails in the Washington, DC area, cheering tirelessly for the NY Giants, or traveling with her family to discover the most beautiful beaches around the world.

Experience With

- U.S. Air Force
- U.S. Army
- Raytheon Technologies
- Lockheed Martin
- Navy Federal Credit Union
- Fidelity Investments
- Federal Aviation Administration
- International Monetary Fund
- Export-Import Bank of the U.S.

Certifications

- Leadership Circle Profile
- Collective Leadership Assessment
- Certified CCL Executive Coach
- Certified CCL Benchmarks 360 Suite

Honing Her Craft

- M.B.A. in Global Business, University of Maryland
- Masters in International Finance and Management, University of Maryland
- B.A. in English and French, University of Virginia